Hosted by comedian Jim Breuer and his animated alter-ego, Mr. Bloeh. Breuer was joined by a series of guests for each episode to discuss the most recent news of the day. The show also featured Bloeh, a comedic character who comments on what Breuer's guests had said during the show. Bloeh and the other characters were created by Michael Bloesch, who created the Fox series Mad TV, and has also directed for the show. History After having been involved in stand-up comedy for years, Breuer had been doing stand-up on television on shows such as NBC's Last Call with Carson Daly and Comedy Central's The Daily Show with Jon Stewart. It was at this time that Breuer approached his old friend Michael Bloesch, whom he had worked with on Mad TV, with the idea of doing a show all about jokes. After brainstorming, they came up with the idea of a show where Breuer would talk to a different comedian for a few minutes about the jokes they have read in their shows. The show would then transition into a discussion with Bloeh, who would then go to an audience of people and tell them a joke. Then Breuer would be joined by a different guest who would also discuss jokes. All Laughs
