The government's forex reserves were $14.228 billion as of Sept 3, 2019, showing an increase of Rs9.081 billion over last year's level. The net exchange reserves have also increased by Rs4.726 billion, after increasing by Rs8.434 billion last year, according to an overview released by the State Bank of Pakistan. Earlier, the Foreign Currency Exchange Department of the State Bank of Pakistan (SBP) had announced that the government's foreign exchange reserves were at $14.36 billion on Monday. The government's forex reserves are presented at face value, in US dollars (USD), of which the central bank holds $3.042 billion, or 24.2 percent of the foreign exchange reserves. The country has reserves of $9.939 billion in gold. The state-run SBP had revised the figure on Monday, citing higher demand of the foreign exchange from the international banking sector. The reserves data is published every Thursday. The reserves have fallen to $14.004 billion as of Aug 1, 2019, after reaching $14.394 billion in the previous five months. The reserves had gone through a big fall last year, owing to capital outflows, over-supply of dollars and capital flight which kept the currency depressed. This had forced the government to make use of the entire budget allocation of $2.7 billion to purchase dollars. In August 2019, SBP had announced that the reserves were at $13.869
